

FARMS Leadership Program 2004/05

January Field Day:

SRJC Shone Farm and
Ya-Ka-Ama Indian
Education Center

Kasey Wade, SRJC Natural Resources Program Instructor , Wendy Krupnick, Garden Manager at SRJC, and Stefan Stehling (Ya-Ka-Ama site) served as our field day mentors.

January was a fun filled field day where both Sonoma County FARMS Leadership programs shared their field day. The day was dedicated to an orientation of the SRJC Shone Farm, a historical account of the history of modern agriculture at Ya-Ka-Ama Indian Education Center, and preparation for Community Action Projects that will be delivered in March.

Community Action Project Preparation

Dana Ghiradelli, Dairy Consultant, discussed how dairy producers monitor water quality.

Andrew Aguilar, Watershed Model Designer, introduced watershed stewardship principles.

This FARMS Leadership Program is hosted by the Sotoyome Resource Conservation District
